

Join our Wine Club and receive substantial discounts and special offers!

Whether you enjoy both Riesling and Pinot Noir, or simply Pinot Noir, we now offer two Wine Club Selections to tempt you; the classic Mixed Selection or the Pinot Noir Selection, as well as the option of your own Standing Order membership. As a Mixed or Pinot Noir Wine Club member you will receive two cases of carefully selected wines each year. Each is chosen by Greg Melick and includes current release wines and vintages not available to the public -offering an opportunity to contrast new releases against older and maturing vintages. Our approach of holding back vintages for Wine Club members can take the guess work out of when to drink our wines at their best.

Our Mixed Selection—You will be sent two cases of selected wine each year: one in Autumn (March) and another in Spring (September). Each selection, set at $395 per case, is at a substantial discount to the regular retail price and is sent to you freight-free within Australia. Prior notice will be given of any price increases.

TASTING NOTES
SPRING 2018 MIXED WINE CLUB SELECTION

The 2011 Riesling R0 – A tightly wound and restrained expression of lemon zest, nectarine and fennel; the palate is bone dry, challengingly so in fact, with generosity something that will come in the fullness of time; the acidity is bracing and refreshing, and the finish long. (94 points, AWC)

The 2018 Riesling R0 – No tasting notes as yet. Send us your thoughts.

The 2009 Riesling R9 – Bright colour; has fleshy tropical/citrus notes with good length, its 9 grams per litre of residual sugar barely perceptible thanks to its acidity. (90 points, AWC)

The 2016 Riesling R9 – Quince confit, ginger, orange blossom and a hint of chutney make for a complex introduction. The palate is kinetic, yet not quite electric; etched by grape skin phenolics and the variety's genetic fiery acidity. (92 points, AWC)

The 2013 Riesling R69 – Unavailable – your comments appreciated.

The 2008 Riesling R139 – Bright straw-green; intense, fine lime juice; very long, the acidity providing the all-important balance. (96 points, AWC)

The 2009 Pinot Noir – Strong colour; has a notably complex bouquet and palate, with black cherry, plum and spice all having their say; the texture and structure are both good, but needs to slim down. (91 points, AWC)

The 2014 Pinot Noir – Good colour; the bouquet and palate have an arresting opulence of plum and black cherry fruit; in the manner of Tasmanian pinots, has the strength and structure to sustain lengthy cellaring, and my guess is it will enter a prolonged plateau 5 years down the track. Drink by: 2025 Date tasted: 29/3/2015 (91 points, AWC)

The 2015 Pinot Noir – It packs a lot of flavour with sweet plums and cherries, earthy rhubarb and roasted beetroot with that alluring forest floor fragrance. Full-bodied and intense sweet fruit on the palate no obvious oak (aged 10 months French barrels 10% new and best barrels selected before blending) and while there's a freshness and a suppleness, the tannins present a sturdy wall, built to last for quite some time. (93 points AWC 2017)

TASTING NOTES
SPRING 2018 WINE CLUB SELECTION
PINOT NOIR ONLY

The Pinot Only Wine Club Selection contains 7 of our current release wines and the remainder are Museum or Pre-Release Pinot Noirs. This Spring's Selection includes:

Current Release

The 2014 Pinot Noir – A wine which AWC describes as - 91 Points. A chunky pinot, hewn across multi-clonal sources, this is big on flavour yet less so on finesse. Dark cherry, bitter chocolate and some sarsaparilla flesh are flung over a skeleton of vanillin oak and sturdy tannins.

Museum Release

The 2009 Pinot Noir – Strong colour; has a notably complex bouquet and palate, with black cherry, plum and spice all having their say; the texture and structure are both good, but needs to slim down. (91 points, AWC)

The 2011 Pinot Noir Block B – a limited quantity of this particular selection of pinot clones was produced. No tasting notes on this one, but if you would like to submit some please do.

Pre-Release

The 2015 Pinot Noir – *It packs a lot of flavour with sweet plums and cherries, earthy rhubarb and roasted beetroot with that alluring forest floor fragrance. Full-bodied and intense sweet fruit on the palate no obvious oak (aged 10 months French barrels 10% new and best barrels selected before blending) and while there's a freshness and a suppleness, the tannins present a sturdy wall, built to last for quite some time.
